

Adapted From:

could assess learning accomplished within a single course or, if part of a senior requirement, could also assess cumulative learning

Indirect assessment of learning: gathers reflection about the learning or secondary evidence of its existence.

Example: a student survey about whether a course or program help

Data analysis and interpretation

Assessment for improvement: assessment that feeds directly, and often immediately, back into revising the course, program or institution to i

Types of Formative Assessment

Observations during in-class activities; of students non-verbal feedback during lecture

Homework exercises (as review for exams and class dis